

CAGE TAVOLO

DESIGN DIESEL /2009

It has an “underground” origin in the real sense of the word. It is inspired by the lamps of miners and workers, protected by a metal cage which in Cage becomes a decorative element, thanks to its artisan craftsmanship, which can be seen in its irregular structure, and to the colours that characterise it. Glamorous white, fashionable black or pop light-blue: three colours that change according to the use of the lamp, lighting up a space when it is switched off, or taking on completely new shades when it is turned on. Cage is a personal object that will satisfy all your desires. The table version has the total versatility of building site lamps: it can be hung, moved or placed on any surface or on the floor, or it can become an ironic desk lamp, which plays on its resemblance to a microphone. Today, the smallest member of the family has become a hanging lamp, particularly well suited to intimate corners or creating compositions, adding a new interpretation to the Cage hanging lamp range.
